Constitution Signed 136 Years Ago Today

Today is Constitution Day, the 136th birthday anniversary of the American Constitution. The historical document was signed September 17, 1787, at the constitutional convention meeting at Philadelphia.

Governor Arthur M. Hyde issued a proclamation several weeks ago, designating today Constitution day in Missouri, and asking particular observance of the day.

The entire week ending September 22 has been declared Constitution week throughout the nation. Citizens and school children have been asked to observe the special period by familiarizing themselves with the Constitution and its clauses.

Observation of the week is sponsored by the American Bar Association, the Boy Scouts and patriotic organizations.

No plans have been made in the city schools whereby programs will be given in observance of Constitution week, but Superintendent L. E. Ziegler said today that the instructors would probably work in the study of the Constitution during the regular class hours.

SPECIALISTS WATCH THE HESSIAN FLY

WILL DETERMINE ACCURATELY DATE TO PLANT WHEAT

FLIES LIVE TWO DAYS

Otis Wade and W. W. Stanfield Get Examples Of Infested Stubble At Conlin Farm

Investigations were carried on the last part of last week throughout Nodaway County by W. W. Stanfield of the agricultural department of the State Teachers College, Otis Wade, entomologist of the agricultural extension department of the University of Missouri and R. A. Kinnaird, county farm bureau agent, to determine more accurately a safe date for the farmers of the Northwestern part of Missouri to plant seed wheat.

From experiments that have been carried on for many years it generally has been safe to plant wheat about the first of October in Nodaway County. But last year on account of the late fall the Hessian fly got into the wheat that was sowed later than usual. The same conditions may exist this year or the flies may emerge earlier than in former years, so it may be advisable to plant wheat earlier. So in order to determine when it will be advisable to plant wheat this fall, these men will determine what date they think will be safe by the observation made last week.

R. A. Kinnaird, Otis Wade and W. W. Stanfield took examples of infested stubble from the Conlin farm east of Arkoe. Mr. Stanfield has taken these examples to the State Teachers College. They have been put in a cage outdoors and observations will be made daily as to when the Hessian flies will emerge. It will be from ten days to two weeks before Mr. Stanfield can make the announcement as to when he thinks it will be advisable for planting of wheat. This announcement will be made when the majority of the flies have hatched out.

There may be a few stragglers hatch out later in the season but Mr. Kinnaird thinks there will not be enough of them live long enough before the wheat appears above the ground. The life of the Hessian fly is only two days.

Just as soon as most of the flies have emerged it will be safe for the farmers to plant their wheat. Mr. Wade is now making observations in Nodaway and surrounding counties and will come back to Maryville in about ten days. From his observations and those of Mr. Stanfield's these gentlemen will make announcements later on, to the farmers.

BABY BEEF CLUB IS JUDGING CATTLE

MEMBERS NEAR RAVENWOOD VISIT THREE FARMS

CONTEST HERE IN OCT.

Best Three In Nodaway County Will Go To District Judging At St. Joseph

Practical work in judging of baby beef cattle was carried on last Saturday by the boys' and girls' baby beef club of around and near Ravenwood. The members of the club with W. J. Wygal, Dr. Frank Bishop, Prof., Harry B. Rutledge, superintendent of schools and Willis Marshall, principal of high school, all of Ravenwood, Prof. W. W. Stanfield of the agriculture department of State Teachers College and R. A. Kinnaird, Nodaway County farm bureau agent, visited several herds of pure bred cattle Saturday near Ravenwood and in Southern Iowa.

They visited the W. A. Berg farm, northeast of Ravenwood. Here Mr. Berg has 100 head of cattle on feed. Four of the head were cut out from the lot members of the baby beef class gave their opinions and reasons for placing the cattle. They also got training on judging cattle at the Jess Engle & Son farm north of Sheridan, where full blooded Hereford cattle are kept and also at the Byron Engle farm in Taylor County, Iowa, where they judged baby beef cattle. Byron Engle is feeding cattle that he is going to show at the Royal Livestock show at Kansas City and at the International Exposition in Chicago in December.

Mr. Kinnaird said that the members of the boys' and girls' baby beef club made good observations for beginners. They have had some instructions under the tutelege of Superintendent of the high school, Harry B. Rutlege at Ravenwood.

The boys and girls will use the knowledge of cattle judging when they enter the contest that is going to be held at Maryville on October 12 and 13. From the best cattle judgers among the club members will be chosen three that will represent Nodaway at the district baby beef judging contest that is to be held in St. Joseph the week following the contest in Maryville.

The county agents of all the counties in this district have contributed to a fund to purchase prizes to be given to the winners at the stock judging contest at St. Joseph.

The baby beef judging contest that will be held in Maryville in October is open to all members of the boys' and girls' baby beef clubs and the contests will be under the supervision of the farm bureau.

Fred Fogan Died Suddenly Saturday Night

Waiting For a Cold Spell

"All we need is a cold spell north of us to bring the ducks south," is the opinion of the hunters around Maryville. It is reported that a few scattered birds have been along the One Hundred and Two River but as yet there have been no reports of any kills since the season opened September 15.

Fred Wright, in the county clerk's office, says that he has issued a large number of hunting licenses, especially last Saturday.

Some of the duck hunters think this will be a good season for ducks in this territory as recent rains ought to fill up the low places and attract the birds flying south.

Following a conference with the President at the White House, Owsley said that care of the diasbled and the passage of a soldier bonus bill were the principal planks in the Legion's platform. McGillBarackman Bout to Be Classic

Both Men Are Evenly Matched, As Shown By the July 4 Match Here

When Jack McGill and Mervin Barackman tangle in their finish wrestling match at the College gymnasium tomorrow night, it will be one of the classic cards of the season here.

Those who saw the match between these two men on July 4 will agree that they are as nearly equal as it is possible for two wrestlers to be. Both are quick and clever and are masters of the mat game. They tangled for one hour and eight minutes without a fall, when McGill was thrown through the ropes and was so badly injured that the match could not be resumed.

The match tomorrow night will go to a finish and every precaution will be taken to see that neither man is injured during the progress of the bout. Both men weigh in at about 158 pounds.

They met about two years ago and McGill was the victor. This was the last match that Barackman has lost and he is anxious to get revenge tomorrow night.

A number of women have made reservations for the match tomorrow night. Dr. D. J. Thomas will start the two men off at 8:30 o'clock. On account of the length of time the match is expected to go, there will be no preliminaries.

Billy Wolfe, who recently lost from Barackman here, is anxious for a return match, and it will probably be arranged for the last of November or the first part of December. Wolfe is very popular among the wrestling fans here.

Miss Mildred Shinbarger, head of the home economics department of the Tarkio High School, returned to Tarkio this morning after a week-end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shinabargar.

GOFORTH ANSWERS EDITOR'S CHARGES

ABOUT BURLINGTON SERVICE HERE AT NIGHTS.

WANTS TO GIVE SERVICE

Maryville, Mo., Sept. 17, 1923.

Editor Democrat-Forum:

Will you permit me to say one more word regarding the criticism of Editor Clark of Bedford with reference to the service at our night train.

I will be very brief, not resort to ridicule, or make any attempt to be funny, as I have just emerged from too long a trance to do either.

In the first place I resent the charge of attempting to deceive the business men of Maryville, or the traveling public. I do not stoop to such methods.

I got my information from the conductors who I thought were in as good a position to know what was going on over the line as Editor Clark.

With the exception of Lenox, where there are but two men, one working until middle afternoon, other coming on until after night train, which arrangement would not work at Maryville at all on account of too much work and separate depots there is no operator on duty for night train and but the two custodians who sell short tickets as a local arrangement.

However, the matter of providing operators and ticket agents for this night train at stations on this line, is a matter that rests with the officials of the Burlington. If they are being robbed by the conductors as insinuated by Mr. Clark, that is their lookout. However, let me say right now and here, that I think the St. Joseph-Creston branch has as honest a set of conductors as ever donned a uniform or punched a ticket.

I tried to say in my first explanation of this matter, that it had been the practice for years to turn on sufficient lights in the main waiting room when the office was closed at 5:30 in the evening, but for some unaccountable reason the operator and ticket clerk forgot to turn them on the evening that has been referred to, and again regrettable that it would so happen on that particular night that the custodian was unavoidably delayed in getting down.

But that this is a common thing, I cannot admit.

It may be that I am being misinformed in regard to this, and that some one is slipping something over on me, but it seems very strange that with all the different inquiries that I have made concerning this particular thing, both before this incident, and more especially since, that I can find no one who will verify the dope given to Mr. Clark by the party who transfers baggage that it was a common thing.

I have asked many who are in a position to positively know about this, and I am informed that it is a rare thing, not to find light as we have stated. I have had occasion many times myself to see if lights were left on and cannot recall ever seeing them off when scheduled to be on.

As to the "kid," he is a young man over 19 years old, weighs over 150 pounds, is regularly employed during the day at freight and passenger station, and we have heard of no complaint. He is hefty enough to maintain order, and when he can't we have the protection of the police. Am glad to say, however, we have had no occasion for such calls of late years. No slugging or hold-ups taking place.

That the City of Maryville and her business men should have the very best service possible, is not debatable. This we have had in constant mind for these many years, and the traveling public are entitled to, must have, and will have, the best service that is possible for us to give, just so far as our jurisdiction extends, and so far as the local situation at Maryville is concerned "and that's all there is to it."

GOOD SEED CORN SHOULD BE SOUND

G. K. ARNEY TELLS HOW TO MAKE SELECTION

FROST MAY HARM CROP

Corn Is Rather Green For This Time Of Year—Good Seed May Be Scarce

The corn crop is rather green for this time of the year in many cases will very likely be frosted before it is well matured. Because of this fact it is very likely that good seed corn next spring will be scarce and probably high in price. In view of these conditions it is very important that every farmer go through his corn field and select the best matured ears and hang these up in a dry place with plenty circulation of air in order that they may thoroughly dry before freezing weather. In selecting seed ears (if one can have any choice this fall) the following points should be observed.

1. Select only ears well mature and sound and which are growing on stalks that are in competition with other stalks. A single stalk growing by itself can easily produce a good ear while if it was growing in close competition with other stalks it might not produce a desirable ear.

2. Select ears growing about waist high and with their tips hanging downward. Ears of this type will not catch and hold moisture in the husks as will those that point upward. The height of the ear on the stalk will vary some with the season however experiments carried on by our experiment stations show that the height of the ear on the stalk can be regulated to a large extent if we select ears of a certain height each year. Ears waist high are much easier to husk than those that are either higher or lower on the stalk.

3. The stalk from which the seed corn is gathered should be of medium size, standing erect, and of medium height for the variety.

Now is the time to pick the seed corn for use next spring.

OKLAHOMA CAPITAL RULED BY TROOPS

HEAVILY ARMED GUARDS KEEP CLOSE WATCH.

MILITARY COURT OPENS

Attempt Is Made to Call Legislature Into Session "To Make Impartial Investigation."

Oklahoma City, Sept. 17—Several changes were made here in Governor Walton's martial law regulations with the arrival this afternoon by airplane of Adjutant General Markham. Roy Frasier, chief of police, who was removed from office by the martial lawregulations, was re-instated after Mayor Cargill had threatened to remove the entire police force.

While national guard troops were beginning to make preparations to enforce the Governor's order to rid the state of the Ku Klux Klan, arrangements were being made for a special session of the state Supreme Court.

The Court, it is learned, plans to take some hand in the martial law situation.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 17—Soldiers with bayonets fixed guarded the state capitol today.

Heavily armed guards paced to and fro in front of the legislative chambers to prevent an attempted meeting of the state assembly. Orders were to prevent no unauthorized persons to pass. Members of the Senate and House are unauthorized persons.

In spite of the bristling bayonets, a determined move to get the legislature into session was in progress throughout Oklahoma today.

The legislature wants to make an impartial investigation of martial law and the necessity for putting the state under military rule, according to state Senators here today.

A military court of inquiry has been opened. Campbell Russell, author of the movement to amend the state constitution to permit the legislature to convene without the call of the Governor, was the first witness.

Russell was the victim of an assault here yesterday growing out of an argument over martial law.

It was reported in military circles that Adjutant General Markham was en route here by airplane but no explanation as to why he is making the hurried trip is known.

Military proceedings here are not interfering with the general life of the city. So far no move has been made to send troops to all parts of the state and for all practical purposes there was no military rule except in Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

The arrival of General Markham was expected to bring about a further move on the part of the Governor and probably a general enunciation of policies.

Records of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma have been taken out of the state, according to reports today. All Klan officials were silent.

Governor Walton has left Oklahoma City for Henrietta, where he is to speak in defense of his administration.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 17—Virtual warfare existed here today between the visible government of Oklahoma and the invisible rule of the Ku Klux Klan.

It was Governor Walton's last "ace" in his drastic endeavor to enforce his third demand that the Ku Klux Klan cease its alleged influence in politics, as he clamped down the bayonet rule, started in Tulsa on August 14, and extended it over the entire state Saturday night.

One company of infantry and a few other troops were on duty today.

A machine gun overlooked the city hall, trained on the doors of the county jail and so set that it would be turned to shower bullets toward the county courthouse.

A grand jury session called for today was suspended by order of the military court.

General military headquarters was established in the Huckins hotel under command of Col. W. D. Key.

Orders provide that all traffic be suspended between midnight and 5

CONDITIONS OF FORGIVENESS.—Put on therefore, . . . bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long suffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.—Colossians 3: 12, 13.

ARE MANAGERS BLIND TO ABILITY?

From the Kansas City Star.

Several years ago John Thomas just out of school, got a job in a large business organization. It was an humble job, and, when he saw how many hundred others were in the same sort of position, he began to wonder how he could ever win advancement.

As he got acquainted he found plenty of young men to confirm him in his opinion. ''I have been here five years,'' one of them said. ''Good work isn't appreciated. The boss never knows what I do. There is no chance to get on except by pull. I've decided to do just enough work to get by.''

Other young fellows talked to him the same way. Promotion was hopeless. ''You are only one of 50,000 they told John Thomas. ''Nobody will pick you out or pay any attention to your work.''

For a time John was discouraged. Then it occurred to him that fellow employes in this frame of mind were making themselves easy for competition. He dug in, and did his work well, learned all he could about the business, thought about it, lived it, offered carefully considered suggestions. Nothing happened for a year or so. Then came promotion.

John Thomas now is one of the executives of the business. It is his constant concern to see that promising young men in the organization are kept in view and pushed along as rapidly as conditions warrant. Occasionally he recalls his first impressions. ''Curious how our views change,'' he told a friend the other day. ''I used to suppose the management was utterly indifferent to the rank and file. Now I know that all the way along there are men in places of responsibility who are anxious to find fellows above the average to help their departments make a showing. It's self interest with them. Unless we want the organization to die or rot we've got to keep a crop of promising youngsters coming up to positions of respnsibility.''

But down in the ranks of the business there are still many young men who are certain that the management has no interest in recognizing ability.

A gasoline tax for improved roads or improved streets is a tax car owners can well afford to pay because it will return to them in a longer life of the car. Bad roads and bad streets are the heaviest tax a motorist can pay.

The state of Nebraska will take a vote on abolishing the state senate. There are times when we would all like to abolish senates for awhile at least, both state and national, but the Nebraska body must be mad indeed if the people vote to abolish it entirely and let the lower house of the legislature do it all.

Missouri Republicans are said to be setting a record for calls at the White House. The party scrap out here may be interesting to Mr. Coolidge for a while but it will be an old story pretty soon and these insistent Missourians may wake up some morning and find that they are the fellows who put the cool in Coolidge.

Joplin has undertaken to end the filling station nuisance by passing an ordinance providing no more filling stations may be erected in the city limits. Whether such an ordinance will stand in the courts is a question but there is no doubt about the fact that all cities have been overrun with filling stations in valuable sections of the city and erected at an expense that makes the distribution of gasoline unnecessarily expensive. The big companies have been the chief offenders and the smaller ones have been trying to follow suit.

Governor Walton seems to have undertaken a big contract in his fight against the K. K. K. in Oklahoma. He has put Tulsa and that whole county under martial law and threatens to put the whole state under the same rule. Whether his drastic program is justified by conditions down there, we do not know and do not undertake to say. When men undertake to visit punishment on those whose conduct they do not approve with their faces covered, abuses are sure to follow. Right and justice can always afford to come out in the open and law enforcement does not need any mask. However, when Governor Walton, or any other official undertakes to place a censor in the newspaper offices to say what shall be printed and what shall not be printed, he is invading dangerous territory. The best friend the law has is publicity. Where the light shines, there is hope for justice and security, but, in darkness, crime breeds and thrives. If the Tulsa papers print things about Governor Walton that are slanderous, he has his recourse in the courts and in the machinery of the law he claims to be trying to uphold. A newspaper run with a military censor in peace times or any other times is not a newspaper. It is merely an organ transferred from one control to another.

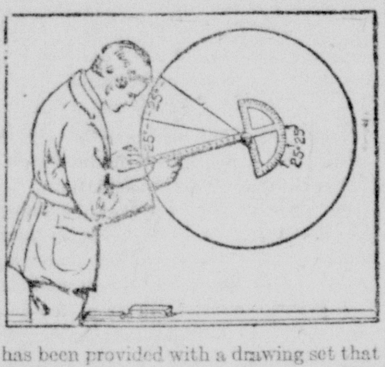
Rolling Dice By Airplane Latest of Sports

With giant dice made of light material, aviators now play the game of dice from their airplanes as one of the latest American sports. Placed in front of the machine, the propeller is twirled, and the rush of air sends the dice rolling down the field with the plane in pursuit. The cubes are then placed in position again.

Suction Cup Holds Ruler Against Blackboard

For teaching classes in subjects that require accurate drawings, a blackboard has been provided with a drawing set that can be instantly attached by a suction cup, from which the instruments swing on a pivot, permitting the use of protractor, divider, T-square, rule, and angles. The force of the suction is sufficient to hold the set to the surface of the board for 15 minutes, when the outfit may be removed or replaced at the same point. Being vertical, this device may be seen from any part of a room, and makes it easier for the lecturer to illustrate his subjects.



Ship Found on Big Iceberg Reveals Mystery of Sea

For centuries mystery ships have sailed the seas, guided only by the winds of chance. One of them was found by a steamer captain rounding the Horn recently. While groping his way into the open, a gigantic mass of ice carrying a large three masted schooner, with its boats still in the clefts, was sighted. Efforts were made to find the survivors but no trace of them was discovered. Another sea tragedy was added to the already long list of those as yet unsolved when a Greenland whaler came upon a strange looking derelict, battered and weather-worn, apparently built in the last century and ice bound for years. A boarding crew found in the cabin the body of a young woman, preserved by the arctic frosts Near a long dead fire was the remains of a young man, still holding a flint and steel.

Rim Spreader for Changing Tires

A common 8-in. barn-door hinge can be used to good advantage for spreading automobile rims when changing tires. If the rims are perfectly plain at the split it will be necessary to drill two 5/16-in. holes about 4 in. from the ends. Two pins are riveted or welded to the end of the hinge and each end is then bent as shown. The pins are inserted into the holes drilled in the rim and the hinge is pushed down with the foot, thus spreading the rim. If there are studs on the rim, the hinge can be used without pins, by simply butting the ends against the studs, notching the ends if necessary to prevent the hinge from slipping.

"Anchoring" the Cow's Tail

Anyone who has milked cows has suffered from the annoyance caused by the animal switching its tail around to chase away the flies. This trouble can be prevented very easily if there is an old bicycle tire lying around the yard. The tire is simply thrown over the cow's back as shown. This idea has been tried and found very effective.

It is not so much a
Question of sitting up
Nights as keeping awake
In the daytime that counts.

It so often happens that the boy who was the brightest in school does not shine when he gets out in the world.

What we can't understand is why some people want a special vacation as they have one the year around.

A cynical bachelor says many a married man gets consolation out of the fact that he is not a Mormon.

Wonder what would happen if some county farmer would come into town and litter up some of the street laws like a lot of picnickers do the farmers' property?

We read the other day that a giver of advice to the married and single in a newspaper says ''Marriage is a question of give and take.'' That is where the trouble lies, neither one wants to do any of the taking.

There is no question about it but that the straw boss who tells his men to take it easy is the one who is popular with the men, a student of labor sagaciously remarked to us the other day.

Uncle Abner says losing his only collar button often causes a man as much worry as losing his reputation.

The most interesting subject in the world is his own troubles to the fellow who likes to talk about them.

Just because some man drives the most expensive car on the market is no sign he could earn the money to buy the gasoline to run it if necessary.

''Love is blind,'' we are always being told. You can't doubt it, the observer of the passerby in town said to us when you see some of the things some women pick out for husbands.

Glad He Is not Our Neighbor.

A Newark, N. J., police judge fined a musician the limit for disturbing the peace when he was brought into his court on the complaint of a neighbor that he had played ''Yes, We Have No Bananas'' thirty times in succession on a saxyphone. He should have sentenced him to eat thirty rotten bananas as a suitable punishment.

Louise, the stenographer, says it seems that they have published every person's opinion on evolution but the monkey's.

Lot of us have knowledge of almost everything but human nature.

Anyway big people in a small town are a lot more important than small people in a big town.

A lot of us were more interested when the price of gasoline dropped than we would have been if the price of food had taken a big tumble.

''Man wants but little here below'' we often quote. And that is just what the most of us get.

Vagrant Musings.

A lot of us who thought we were it, have awakened to find we were nit.

We can stand for a manish woman but a lady like man gets our goat.

What has happened to the morning after?

No faithful servant gets more cussing than an alarm clock.

The only way some people can find what ''unselfishness'' means is to look in the dictionary.

We are told women have their hair bobbed to save time in doing it up. By the same process of reasoning we suppose men should let their beards grow to save time in shaving.

Lectures Continue at Church of God.

Elder A. N. Dugger, president of the General Conference of the Church of God, is still lecturing each evening at the Church of God, on the last book of the New Testament the ''Revelations.'' The subject tonight will be the ''Woman Clothed With the Sun,'' of chapter twelve.

The previous lectures have been well attended and the general public is invited.

A marriage license was issued this morning to Joseph G. Scoll of Conception and Agnes Lager of Clyde. The couple intend to be married at Clyde.

What Is An "Independent?"

THE dictionary says:—An independent is one who exercises his own will or judgment without the guidance or control of others—whether in thought or some sphere of action.

In discussing the petroleum industry, the press and the public use the term "independents" to designate the competitors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The definition quoted exactly fits the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as it neither owes nor acknowledges allegiance to any man or organization.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is owned by 41,922 stockholders—not one of whom owns as much as 6% of the total stock.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is managed by a Board of Directors of ten men—every one of whom started in a comparatively humble capacity and earned his place on the Board by sheer ability. These men devote their entire time to the business of this Company.

While the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) neither owes nor acknowledges allegiance to any man or organization, it is proud to acknowledge its obligation—

First—to its stockholders who have invested their capital in the enterprise.

Second—to 27,000 loyal, earnest, hard-working employes, 10,000 of whom also are stockholders.

Third—to the 30,000,000 people in the ten Middle Western states who have come to look upon this Company as a leader in a highly specialized branch of essential industry.

Fourth—to those of our competitors who, with the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are striving to make the oil business useful to all the people.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) tries earnestly at all times to discharge its obligation to these four groups in such a highly satisfactory manner as to reflect credit not only upon itself but upon the industry as a whole.

o'clock in the morning. The carrying, purchasing, or selling of fire arms is prohibited. Public meetings are banned. Spreading of literature condemning the action of military officers is prohibited.

Federal employes are exempt from these general orders where they conflict with their duties.

Capt. N. J. Moore of the 160th Service Company was in charge of police headquarters, relieving the chief of police. The regular police department had not otherwise been changed.

Secret service men from the United States Department of Justice are quietly observing developments. Other Federal operators are said to be on their way here.

The first action today against the Klan to arrest its high officials and put them before the military court of inquiry to collect testimony, was expected as soon as arrangements for the court could be completed. Organization of the court was started this morning.

Campbell Russell, former corporation commissioner and initiator of the petition circulated to give the people the right to vote on an amendment providing for legislature to convene itself, was preparing to test the validity of Governor Walton's suspension of the writ of habeas corpus.

If he should be arrested for circulating the petition attacking Governor Walton, S. P. Freeling, former general, will ask a writ in Federal court, it is declared today.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The Federal government's role in Oklahoma's civil war is that of an interested spectator. There is little or nothing to be done in the situation, officials declared, if there was a disposition to do anything.

The situation thus far has developed no exigencies calling for Federal action. The Department of Justice has some operators in Oklahoma, but no special significance attaches to their presence.

Late Telegraph News

Jefferson City, Sept. 17.—The Missouri Resource Museum, established in the state capitol building here, is proving of educational interest as well as a place of recreation for visitors and tourists.

Prof. Alfred G. Burrill, curator, says the museum is growing in popularity and crowds can be found there during the day enjoying steroptican views of Missouri scenes. Comfortable benches are provided so that visitors may rest while viewing the historical collections.

A soil map of of Missouri, encased in glass and 12 feet square, showing the exact soil formations to be found in every county in the state is one of the features.

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 17.—Official pastorial representatives of sixty Protestant churches here have authorized the organization of a board of education to direct religious education in Tulsa public schools.

The action followed a statement of Dr. P. P. Claxton, superintendent of public schools, that he was in full accord with any such plan.

Work of the religious board of education will consist of selecting a curriculum of religious instruction, standardize these subjects, and act as the mouthpiece of the church in co-operating with the municipal board of education, it was said.

KANSAS FARMER HARVESTS WITHOUT AID OF OLD DOBBIN

Caldwell, Kan., Sept. 17—Horseless farming has proved a success on at least one Kansas farm. M. L. LeCocq, who says he sold all his horses only as a nexperiment, declares he has saved much by disregarding the old time method.

"I am thoroughly satisfied with horseless farming and have proved it is practical even to the threshing end," Le Cocq said.

"The total expense for the year exclusive of depreciation of machinery and seed costs was only $3 an acre."

MAMMOTH SEARCHLIGHT AT TULSA OIL CONGRESS

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 17—The largest searchlight ever seen in Oklahoma is to be placed atop a 100-feet oil derrick on the grounds of the International Petroleum Congress and Exposition during its show here, October 8-14, according to those in charge of preparations.

The big light will throw its beams from 20 to 30 miles from Tulsa, it is said. The lens are 18 inches in diameter, and are being donated by the General Electric Company. They are on their way here from the electric company's plant in Schenectady, N. Y.

Current for the gigantic light will be furnished gratis by the Oklahoma Electric company, which will install a special generator to change the alternating current into direct before it enters the lamp.

WORLD COURT SCORED BY SENATOR REED

Kansas City, Sept. 17—The senior senator from Missouri has not even taken a respite from his seemingly continuous attack on the League of Nations during the legislative vacation.

He has conducted a series of speeches directed at the league and world court during his stay in his home here.

Senator Reed often has begun the addresses, after having been introduced as "our future president" by declaring his contempt for all political dodgers who do not get out and tell the people what he thinks.

"This is everyone's country; a nation where no man has a monoply on the brain power and it is up to him to stir other persons to think for themselves.

"If this country goes on the rocks, it will be because the people have ceased to think for themselves and have followed one leader.

"Some people might expect through the League of Nations or world court, what Jesus Christ failed to accomplish in two thousand years.

"If for a league, lets have our own and tell the others to go straight to thunder.

"If Italy and her allies can throw fear into the league," Senator Reed continued, "what in the name of God would the result be for England or France? If the league cannot spank these mere boys what would they be able to do to giants."

MISSOURI GIVES ADVICE TO STATE TOURISTS

Jefferson City, Sept. 18—Motorists and tourists traveling through the state of Missouri are advised by the state highway department to follow state road markings as a means of finding the best roads. While community roads in a few instances may be found better for a short distance, the tourist will find traveling much better and more convenient by following state highways, according to a bulletin issued by Edward S. Austin, secretary of the state highway commission.

Jobs are scarce for the

Physically Run-Down

THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his veins. Mountain size obstacles dwindle to ant hills and ambitions become accomplishments to these sort of men.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down? —The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaff of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?

S. S. S. is the long established and time honored creator of red blood cells. You cannot expect to get very far up the ladder unless you are equipped with a body that is strong and vigorous. S. S. S. will start you on your way. Don't allow the "Door of Opportunity" to be closed to you because you have not the stamina to withstand the gaff—because your nerve power is lacking. Build up your system!

S. S. S. made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks makes you fit! Get back that old time punch! When opportunity knocks be ready to answer the call!

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. It is more economical to buy a large size bottle.

PUBLIC ONLY CAN LOWER RAILROAD FREIGHT RATES

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 17—Greater confidence by the investing public is the only medium through which lower freight rates may be obtained, J. C. Holden, vice president of the Southern railroad told the Wichita Traffic club here.

Railroads could have funds ready to improve their facilities through such confidence," he said. High freight rates were attributed by Holden to the general increase in cost of operation.

"If every employee of the railway system were to donate his services lower freight rates could not be obtained," said Holden. "If there was any material difference."

"Farm conditions appear favorable here," Holden said, "and I hope the 5 cent saving on freight rates on grain from Wichita to Kansas City will make a great difference in the lives of farmers."

Holden declared the motor bus systems were eating into the heart of railroad earnings.

Leah Baird in "Is Divorce A Failure"

Is divorce a cure or a curse? Can divorce be a failure? If so, how? When is divorce a failure? Is divorce worth the notoriety? Does it make two wrongs? Is divorce a way out of marriage, or the way to another marriage? Is divorce constructive or destructive? Is marriage affected by divorce? Is divorce affected by marriage? What is the bitterness and the repentance of divorce? Does a husband fight his wife's divorce suit just to embarass her? Who is to blame for the notoriety of divorce? Can a man who does not understand women make a success of marriage? What makes a woman hesitate to follow divorce with another marriage? Does a woman think twice about committing matrimony a second time? When in danger, who has the right to protect a woman—her divorced husband or her promised husband? Has the future a better claim on a woman than the past? Can a woman make a house seem a home without the aid of a man? Do men and women overrecommend themselves for marriage and recompense themselves with divorce? Come and see how this picture answers these questions.
